

The Problem Elementary Composition: Suggestions for Its Solution (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from The Problem Elementary Composition: Suggestions for Its Solution These chapters were written for delivery before the Brooklyn Teachers Association, and without thought of subsequent publication. They are now gathered into a book in response to the request of many interested in elementary composition. It has seemed desirable to retain them in their original form, familiar and unconventional as that is. The writer believes that composition work need not be restricted to the production of written themes, but that it may include speaking as well as writing, work by a little community as well as work by individuals, and interesting conversations to rouse thought and deepen feeling. Another chapter might have been added, on the subject of versification. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
